9amHealth joins Innovators' Network at the American Heart Association Center for Health Technology & Innovation

American Heart Association consortium advances development of evidence-based health tech solutions.

SAN DIEGO, February 14, 2023 – 9amHealth, an all-in-one healthcare solution for people living with diabetes, prediabetes, and other co-conditions has joined the Innovators' Network at the American Heart Association Center for Health Technology & Innovation (the Center). The Center is focused on building and fostering health technology relationships to develop innovative and scalable solutions.

The Innovators' Network is a healthcare technology consortium that connects entrepreneurs, providers, researchers, and payers. Innovators' Network members also have access to the Association's digital guidelines, recommendations, and best-in-class science as they develop digital healthcare technologies. Members collaborate with the Center in different ways, including the building of models for clinical outcome studies, lowering the significant cost of developing those studies independently, helping connect the science to technology, and providing evidence that a digital platform improves healthcare outcomes—a key concern for providers and payers.

“The Center aims to advance the rapid, efficient, and effective development of healthcare technology,” said Robert A. Harrington, M.D., FAHA, volunteer past president of the American Heart Association (2019-2020), chair of the American Heart Association's Health Tech Advisory Group for the Center, and Arthur L. Bloomfield professor and Chairman of the Department of Medicine at Stanford University. “Joining the Innovators' Network gives members the opportunity to leverage the consortium and work toward broadening and deepening their engagement in this arena.”

“Cardiovascular conditions are the most common co-conditions for people living with diabetes,” said Anton Kittelberger, Co-CEO at 9amHealth. “We're excited to become a member of the Center's Innovators' Network and gain access to their scientific research to validate our own clinical findings and do more good for the diabetes community.”
